FOUR MILLION NEGROES OF THE UNIVERSA NEGRO IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION VOTE AND WORK TOGETHER IN NOVEMB

Fellow Men of the Negro Race, Greeting:

The Fourth Annual International Convention of the Negro Peoples of the World is now in session. The record of the past week is a splendid one. The delegates who assembled themselves from all parts of the world made such a demonstration of their sincerity, loyalty and devotion to the cause of the Universal Negro Improvement Association that we rise at this hour to face the world as a united force, determined now and forever to uphold the glorious banner of the Red, the Black and the Green.

Spirit of Convention

The spirit of this convention is something new. It is most unique. We have never heard women have lost their personal individualism and have thrown their whole hearts, souls, bodies and minds into the one supreme object —that of an emancipated race and a redeemed country. Let us pray everywhere that this spirit will continue throughout the entire month of August. Let us pray that confusion does not enter the ranks of those who make up this great convention, for great work is to be done.

Formation of Negro Political Union

Among the many important questions to be discussed immediately will be the formation of the Negro Political Union which is to become the political voice of the four hundred million Negroes of the world. It is necessary that we have one great and powerful political organization to voice the opinions of our scattered race and especially at this time in America when we are looking forward to the great national election. In this year of 1924 four million members of the Universal Negro Improvement Association in America will vote solidly for the men, party and principles that appeal to our idealism. No longer will a member of the Universal Negro Improvement Association give or throw away his vote recklessly in America, but he is going to use it as his only power of defense; he is going to use it as his only means of expressing himself politically for his good and well-being and for the good and well-being of his race. The parties that are now desirous of securing the Negro's vote must realize that it is not to be sold. The individual Negro politician has nothing more to sell, because he represents nobody but himself, especially among the Negroes who make up the Universal Negro Improvement Association.

to make our enemies realize that they cannot insult us, treat us with indignity and expect us to support them. If the ballot counts for anything, and we know it does, then that of the Negro in America will be felt during 1924.

There is one thing we are proud of, and that is every member of the Universal Negro Improvement Association is really loyal to the roll. call. We are not disposed to say where we will throw our ballots. The convention will decide that. Whether we give it to the Democrats, the Republicans, or to the Independents, it shall only be cast for men, measures and principles that tend to the well-being of the Negro race and the interests of the nation and the Universal Negro Improvement Association.

There are many other things that we have before us that will be paramount during the month of August. 'We are going to discuss them dispassionately and we are broad and liberal to the point that we welcome all.

Room for Every One

The Universal Negro Improvement Association has room for every Negro who means well by himself and by his race. It stretches out the hand of fellowship and comradeship to each and everyone. Renegades keep away, and traitors are afraid, and the grafters see absolutely no hope: but those who are sincere, those who are loyal to the race and self can always find comradeship in the ranks of the Universal Negro Improvement Association.

As we, the delegates of the people, elected by them to represent their interests, assemble and carry out our work in New York we ask that those whom we represent do everything to help us make a success of this convention. The Association needs funds to carry on its work.

Let the Delegates Come

Those who cannot afford to reach New York, send in all the help you can to the Parent Body. Send in all that you have collected for the Convention Rund. Send in all that you have on your Division Reports, so that the Association can have at its command the necessary finance force to support itself. We are making another hip important appeal. It is for help for the Black possible gainer and Trading Company.

In these time we will have our ship. Lantist he money. We want it now, we want

Black Cross Navigating and Trading Company

Those who have not yet loaned their $50, $100, $200 or $500, do so now. It is clearly understood and defined that the Black Cross Navigating and Trading Company is borrowing loans for five and ten years bearing an interest of 5% annually to help the organization to finance its commercial maritime program.

We want ships on the seven seas to trade between America, the West Indies, South and Central America. We want ships to trade between America, the West Indies, South and Central America and Africa. We want ships to carry our commerce around the world, and with ships we intend to build up our industries, through which we hope to be able to employ millions of our race.

It is a duty that we owe to this generation and to the future generations to build up ourselves industrially, and we hope to do this by starting with the Black Cross Navigating and Trading Company.

Greater and Stronger Industrialism

Let our cry be everywhere a greater and stronger indusrislian and a greater and someor commons state. desire to become a great people, if we must survive, we must lay a solid industrial and commercial foundation. No people can be permanently great who haven't laid such a foundation. It is the industrial strength of America that makes her leader of the world. It is the commercial and industrial strength of England that makes her Mistress of the Seas. It is the commercial and industrial strength of Germany that made her a fear to the world, and so, if Africa is to rise to the highest heights of national strength, it must be through commerce and industry.

Lay Good Foundation

Let us now lay our foundation. This should be the keynote of the convention of 1924—a stronger commercialism and a stronger industrialism.

Group Ourselves Together

Men and women, everywhere, let us group ourselves together for unity. Let us put forth every energy that we have, every spirit and spark of loyalty that we have for this race of ours and go forward. Care not what the enemy says. Don't be disturbed by their actions and by their tongues. It is natural that those who have profited by our ignorance will oppose us. It is natural that those who have lifted themselves to success at our expense will ridicule us. the members of the Universal Negro Improvement Association and those who lead it, but we are intelligent and sober enough to pay no attention to them.

Working for Ourselves

It is our duty to save ourselves, to work for our race. irrespective of the opposition that confronts us, so we appeal to you at this time to give every support you possibly can to the great cause of the Universal Negro Improvement Association.

Those delegates who have not yet arrived in New York are requested to speed up and be here to take part in the discussions of the important subjects that will be laid before the convention.

Let everybody who can afford to come to New York be here, and those who cannot come please send in your finan cial support and help to help us carry out our program.

With very best wishes, I have the honor to be

WHITE RACES CLASH IN THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Rivalry and Bad Blood Threaten International Relations and Life of the Games

From the New York "Sun" While American lovers of sport; in the United States have been busy counting the successes of their athbeen counting the distressing episodes at Paris showing poor sportsmanship of crowds of individual performers. And one of them concludes that "it gravate international bitterness instead of soothing them." It is a discouraging comment after twenty-eight years of international competition. Perhaps it is sound. Those on the other side of the Atlantic can judge with difficulty of what have reached.

The first is that the English are looking at an experiment in sport from the standpoint of those who have worked out something relatively persimply outside the experience of many other nations. These are taking up tennis, running and footbell for the first time in their history, and crowds assemble to watch the sports for the first time. Both performers and spectators have consequently had their desires more in mind than their manners. Yet it is a question if the French. or instance, have not learned a great eal this year. The behavior of the rowd at the Olympic tennis final was said to be very creditable. It may have howed the effects of protest against partiality on other occasions.

In a similar way there must be an performers from dozene of nations until something like an international ideal has been established. The Latin point of view is somewhat different rom the English and the American it the two are already close together, and evidently getting closer.
Finally, what of the increasing participation of nations in the Olympic games? If a failure in international sport has been registered "once more."

why is it that despite supposed fallures in the past the popularity and significance of these four-year meetings have increased until this year ng thousand on thousand? Despit the very real irritations incident to the games there must be something atactive to the world about the Olympic thietic feetival. Does not its ver growth give a certain promise of suc-cess, or is it doomed while the interest in it mounts and the breadth of it receases?

This would be calamity indeed.

Tor, on soberer reflection, is it likely to appear to the contesting nations that they will gain in happiness of retion, one to the other, by running away from the simplest and most pleasant of relationships? If nations cannot play together, it is hardly to be expected that they can associate in more serious activity.—Yet that they can is their hope and their necessity.

As, for instance, if the Negroes of America were politically agitating or working for the passage of any special measure for the henefit of the race, the entire strength of the union would be placed at the dis-posal of the American section. It is an excellent plan when a fire burns hollow to insert a few lumps of cal between the bars to prevent the structure from collapsing, and then to place a little small coal and coke on the top. This will be found a more economical way than the usual one of poking the fire vigorously. Poking results in most of the red-hot cinders falling out of the grate.

Baked Pork Specials

Season pork specials with salt and pepper. To one well beaten egg add two tablespoonfuls of milk or cream. Dip pleces of pork in this, then roll in cracker meal or flour. Have lard hot and fry the pork in this until brown, then place in pan. Pour a pint of water in the frying par and let come to a boil, then pour over meat, cover and bake in a moderate oven about an hour. One advantage of this delicious meat that it can be prepared some time ahead of the dinner hour, instead of the last minute. It is especially appetizing in appearance and tage if served with apples fried in round silices with a teaspoonful of jelly in the middle of each silice.

CAN INTERPACIAL PROBLEMS & E HAPPILY SOLVED?

Sir Valentie Chirol Thinks They Can but Does Not Tell How - Clash Between Occident and Orient Impends

According to a news report of the concluding lecture of Bir Valentie Chirol, formerly director of the foreign department of the London Times before the Harris Foundation of International Politics at Chicago as pearing in a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor, the "clash of color," setting races in antagonism one to another is a problem not witnout solution. Of its overcoming he

The more firmly we ourselves bolieve in the superiority of a civil ac-tion which, so far, it has been the privilege of the white man to build up in his Occidintal homelands, the more we are bound by its principles and the principles of the common Christianity which are its foundation to do all in our power to temper the bitterness of a racial discord which, I it spreads and deepens, may threat en the future of the whole human

Often as our own practice may have fallen short of our ideals, the common civilization of the Occident to which America belongs, quite as nuch as Europe, must surely set be fore us definite ideals for which we should all strive as nations and as individuals.

Sir Valetie declared that mor will not be sufficiently backed up with justment of the relations between the works for a long, long time. During Occident and the Orient depends upon the solution of the race problem in Asia. He observed:

All the manifold discontents of the Orient are bound up together in the clash of color. This is nothing new But it has acquired a new significance with the white man's assumption of superior and indefeasible rights base on the superiority of the race

The Oriental, who for a time admit ted and acquiesced with almost fatal istic resignation in the white man's superiority, denies it today-denies i metimes passionately—for all his atavistic instincts, reacting against the aggressive impact of the Occidental civilization, rebel as never before against it, sometimes contemptuously made him too familiar with the seamy side of our civilization, sometimes be-cause he has assimilated enough of its finer ideals to day the rights of equal partnership in all that is best different beliefs and different customs and different domestic institutions was always difficult, but it has become far more difficult with increased facilities of communication and the introduction of modern natural scientific appliances and industrial trading methods, necessitating the employment in subordinate canadities of a type of Euwith whom the Orient was hitherto unfamiliar, with plenty of good qualities, but rather breeding and discount of the prisoners were brought to the education to boast of their racial superiority and to impress their sense of it somewhat roughly upon the Indians with whom they rub shoulders. It cannot be denied that racial hatred has often had its origin in the rancor caused by personal insults to which the natives of Oriental countries even of good position have occasionally been subjected by white men who themselves, but were not their betters. Industrial competition at the same time, has intensified so rapidly all the world over that the Occident has been seized with a great fear lest it should be swamped by the cheaper labor and lower standards of life of the countless millions of the Orient which it has itself equipped to become its competitors

I have touched only on that part of the Orient which has been for many centuries interlocked in history with the Occident, but the same line of racial cleavage, is deepening even in those countries of the further Orient China and Japan, which have lived their own lives, almost within the memory of living man, in almost complete isolation from the Occident
