PERMANENT REPRESENTATION IS NEEDED AT GENEVA

Negro Must View the Major Questions of Life Seriously and Take Practical
Measures for Their Solution—
Two Negro Delegates Cheer
Anti-African Speech of White Representative

I am writing to you today from the city that is commonly called the capital of the world. Geneva has become the world's capital because of the many international and important conferences that have been held here and because, at the present time, the League of Nations is domiciled here. It is marvelous to see how apparently responsive the nations of the world are to the great idea formulated by Woodrow Wilson, the outgrowth of which was the creation of the League of Nations.

Statesmen at Geneva

Statesmen and politicians are here from all parts of the world, representing nearly every nation, endeavoring to adjust, through the efforts of the League, the many differences and perplexities with which the particular nations are afflicted. We have races here represented as well as nations. Minority groups as well as oppressed majorities have their representatives here knocking at the door of the League for a humane consideration of their demands and their rights.

Negro Not Really Represented

Until I arrived, the Negro was not represented as a majority group. It seems to me that every race in the world aspires after something through the proper channels with the exception of the Negro. Up to now the Negro seems to take the major questions of life lightly and deals with them more emotionally and sentimentally than practically. While these peoples and nations are here endeavoring to adjust their affairs by politics and legislation, the Negro seems to think that he can live permanently in a highly strung political world by sentimental appeals. We must change this attitude. We have to be practical, and that is why I have pleasure in representing the Universal Negro

Improvement Association at Geneva at this time.

Given Glad Hand

I have been given the glad hand of fellowship by many of the representatives of the different nations that are represented here, because it seems to them that the Negro, at last, has awakened to the consciousness of his duty to himself. It is true that we have one or two representatives in the League, but the countries they represent are so dominated by white interests that these representatives are practically voiceless.

White South African Speaks

I had the privilege of listening to the speech of the representative of South Africa as delivered before the Political Committee of the League, in which he extolled the great work of the Africanders in their effort to preserve white South Africa so that the white race may develop. He also implored the League not to train the natives in the use of arms. This is interpreted to be a direct appeal to the majesty of the League to assist the white South Africans to oppress the black natives, in that, while the white South Africans are trained in the use of arms, the appeal to the League by him is not to train the natives in the use of arms so that the natives may be at a disadvantage in dealing with the white South Africans who are endeavoring to keep them down. The speech of this delegate was a direct attack upon the evolutionary development of the black man in South Africa, and yet two black men who were Marcus Garvey Busy at Geneva Making present, as delegates, sat there and never said one word in defense of the Negro, but at the close of the speech of the South African delegate joined in with the white delegates and cheered—as to suggest that the appeal of the South African for the help of the League in further imposing the will of South Africa upon the natives was well received. This is the kind of demonstration by Negroes that encourages the white man to feel that the Negro is indeed incompetent and incapable of developing himself as a man. Yet, this will change.

Petition Before the League

The petition for an adjustment of the international Negro question is now before the League. We are expecting that the matter will be fully discussed in the next session, in 1929. Already we have promises from many of the delegates to do their best to help the Negro, and it is for us to now unite our forces the world over to bring the kind of pressure necessary upon the League of Nations so that they may act unanimously in adjusting the grievances against which we have complained and in granting to us the freedom that we demand.

Must Be Fully Represented

We must be fully represented at Geneva in the future, and as soon as our conventional program is made up and published I feel sure that Negroes everywhere will subscribe to that part of it that seeks to establish a permanent Legation at Geneva representative of the Negro race.

With very best wishes, I have the honor to be Your obedient servant,

Mareur Caneral,

President-General, Universal Negro Improvement Ass'n.

Religious and Political Beliefs

The average man, whether he be black or white, receives his religion and politics ready made. On these two issues the masses of both groups are in the same boat. Their beliefs are greatly colored by tradition. Whatever the father and mother were, the children are sure to be. There is very little reason brought into play when it comes to one's religious and political beliefs. And a it seems that this attitude of mind cannot be rightly termed belief. Belief it made of storner stuff. There must always be a shifting and examinning of evidence before one can come to what is called "belief." Therefore, this attitude of mind is nothing short of blind acceptance of a given proposition.

I have spoken to dozens of Demorats and Republicans, and neither the one nor the other has been able to state what is the issue between the two parties. But this condition does not end here. I have read the speeches of both candi dates, and I have seen nothing in the utterances of Mr. Hoover that could not dates, and I have seen nothing in the uttersaces of an Albania bave been said by the most orthodox Democrat without doing violence to his White Chicago Students conscience. Religious and Political Beliefs

The average man whether he he black or white receives his religion an politics ready made. On these two issues the masses of both groups are in th same boat. Their beliefs are greatly colored by tradition. Whatever th father and mother were, the children are sure to be. There is very little reason brought into play when it comes to one's religious and political beliefs. And a it seems that this attitude of mind cannot be rightly termed belief. Belief made of sterner stoff. There must always be a shifting and examining of ev dence before one can come to what is called "belief." Therefore, this attitude of mind is nothing short of blind acceptance of a given proposition.

I have spoken to duzens of Demorats and Republicans, and neither the on nor the other has been able to state what is the issue between the two parties But this condition does not end here. I have read the speeches of both cand dates, and I have seen nothing in the utterances of Mr. Hoover that could not have been said by the most orthodox Democrat without doing violence to his White Chicago Students conscience. The same can be said about Mr. Smith. His speech, although immeasurably more comprehensive, with a wider sweep and a bolder attitude, contained nothing that could not have been said by the most ardent Repub-

"HOME TO HARLEM," EL LIBRO DANINO DE McKAY, DEBERA GANAR LA CONDENACIÓN GENERAL DE LOS NEGROS

Marcos Garvey, prominente leader negro, condena como dañinos la variedad de libros de un nuevo grupo de escritores de la raza. Dice que la ofrenúltima de los negros jamaiquinos es un insulto á la raza negra. Los malos poemas y las novelas perniciosas son calificadas por Garvey como "Prostitutas Literarias" lompañeros de la Raza Negra; Es mi deber traer a vuestra atención esta semana un grave mal que afecta a nosotros como pueblo en esta hora. Nuestra raza, de pocos años á esta parte, ha desarrollado un nuevo groupo de escritores que han prostituido su inteligencia bajo la dirección del hombre blanco, para traer la superficie y demostrar a las claras lo peor de las características de uestra pueblo. Varios de estos escritores son negros de las Indias Occidentales y Norte Americanos. Ellos han estado escribiendo libros, novelas y poemas bajo los auspicios de libreros blancos, para mostrar al mundo lo sucito, la laxitud e immoralidades que son peculiares a nuestro grupo, can el objeto de que estos publicistas circulen el libelo contra nosotros entre el elemento blanco del universo, y asi mantenernos siempre en ! al ridicula, y mantener siempre lateme un prejuicio universal hacia noso-

El libro "Home to Harlem de McKay

Varios de estos libros han sido publicados aquí en America recientemente, siendo el último puesto a luz pública el de Claude McKay "Home to Harlem," publicado por Harper Bros, de New York. Este libro de McKay es un libelo contra del Negro. Tengo ahora frente á mi un! scrito ó revista de dicho Ebro por "John O'London's Weekly. Voy a reproducir larevista completa para beneficio de aquellos que desen ver la impresión que tales Dires crean en las mentes de las gentes blancas. Claude McKay, el riegro jamaignino, no es solamente al que hay que culpar como autor de tales "bros. W. E. B. Los pubricistas blancos utilizan a los negros La gente blanca tiene estos negros para escribir la clase de material que cilos necesitan para alimentar su público de manera que el negro pueda ser todavia considerado como un mono ó como una imbécil criatura. Cuando los autores negros de reputación escriben algo bueno de agradable sabor literario para ser publicado, los publicistas blancos rehusan darlo a la luz pública; mas amque el negro es suficientement conocido para htraer la atención se le advierte siempre al escribir lo que realmente guste : al elemento blanco. Esto es justamnite lo que lo une le ha sucedido a Claude McKay. Ha l'agade la hora de boycotizar à tales autores negros a quien nosotros may l'anomente podemos designar como "prostitutas · literarias". Debemos hacerles comprender que no vamos a permitir sus usultos lanzados para satisfacer el prejuicio de la gente blanca que desen nantener al negre en eterno desacato y ridiculo. Debemos alentar à intestros autores negros que tengan caracter, que sean lales a su raza; que se sientan ocenillosos de ser negros, y de todos los modos le hegamos sentir que apreciantes sus esfuerzo para adelantar nuetra raza mediante nna literatura, decente y saludable. Los escritores deboran polear la causa del negro Necesitamos escritores que pelcen la causa del negro tal como lo hace H. G. Wells de la raza blanca peleando por la causa de la raza anglo-sajona. Imaginemosno a H. G. Wells prostituyendo su inteligencia y habilidad como un autor para satisfacción de los negros publicistas, en contra de la moral o intereses de raza anglo-sajona. Es imposible. No obstante son muchos los escritores negros que han prostituidos sos inteligencias para hacer los daños mayores á la moral y reputación de la raza, negra. Lo que sigue es la revista del fibro de McKay por el periódico blanco "John O'London's Weekly":

Pensando en negro

Una novela extraordinaria de un negro acerca de los negros. Si juzgamos por las novelas y los espectaculos teatrales que llegan a nosotrus cen la jocosidad y ropaje europeos, "high brow" America has "gone nigger". Hace algunos años hubo "Emperor Jones" (Emperador Jones") del Sr. Eugene O'Neil (produjo, joh! un horroroso fracaso en el teatro de Londres); mas recientemente ha aparecido "Nigger Heaven" (El Cielo del Negro) que licgó a ser la mejor venta aun en la misma-Inglaerra los poemas de Louis Varrey, "Black Majesty" (La Magestad Negra) del Sr. J. W. Vandercook y muchos otros de los quales el lector inglés jamás haya oido nada. Ahora, en "Home to Harlem" (Harpers, 7s. 6l.), nosotros tenemos una importante novela acerca del la vida del negro en America por un autor negro quien no nos hece perder la viveza ni tampoco la verdad.

El Sr. Claude McKay ha tenido una carrera altamente coloeada con el romance que acompaña a todos los peregrinos. Nació en Jamaica, de padres que fueron seducidos y sustraidos de Madagascar su tierra pativa y vendidos en pública subasta como esclavos. Cuando se llevó à efecto la subasta, se nos dice, ellos entraron en un pacto de huelga de muerte, jurando matarse si no cran vendidos al mismo amo. El Sr. McKay, quien siempre demostró aptitudes para el estudio, se le ofreció una oportunidad de educrase en los Estados Unidos por un amigo, y aprovechó la ocasión.

Por espacio de dos años estudió agricultura científica en un colegio americano, pero su amor a la literatura era irresistible, de aqui que abandonara el colegio y convertirse en peregrino, estibador, sirviente en un carro-Pullman, ayudante de muelle, cargador no solamente en New York, sino en Londres y Marsella. Es pues en Europa donde el escribe sus obras, "Home to Harlem" que es su primera novela, lleva ya tres ediciones en America dentro el lapso de dos meses.

Un documento Bocial "Home to Harlem" mas que una novela es un documento social de una raza que muy pocos de nosotros entendemos. Su heroe es un caballero de algun sentimentalismo, hombre de color llamado Jake, quien se deserta de las fuerzas experidionarias en

Francia, no porque fuese un cobarde, sino por la impasiencia de "hacer algo". Vino a Londres á trabajar en los muelles de Limehouse; pero despues de algun tiempo le asalta la irresistible llamada de la colonia de color de New York. Hacia dos años que el había abandonado a Harlem. Quinta Avenida, Lenox avenue y la calle ciento treintaicinco con sus muchachas color chocolates y de nogal, le nombraban. ¡Oh que piernas las de ellas! tal era el pensamiento de Jake. (Oh que piernas, las tentadoras piernas de las muchachas! . . ; El cabaret de Barron! . . . ¡El cabaret de Leroy! . . . !Oh boy! Y asi Jake vuelve à Harlem con sus cabarets "Speakeasics"

A todo esto el espiritu analizador del hombre blanco se levanta a hacer un juicio que pamas llega comprender. Una vez mas Jake se entiende con una negra engolfada en el vicio de la ginebra y su asociación se extiende a un grupo especial de amigos intimos de esta individua. Aprendemos del Sr. McKay muchas cosas no sos pedhadas acerca de la vida del negro acerca de su cocina, su alimentación, acerca de su actitud hacia le hombre blanco y la actitud
