Garvey's Weekly DIGEST

FELLOWMEN OF THE NEGRO RACE,
Greetings:

What will you select to be? If was thirty years ago, when I was a boy of thirteen the thought came to me whether I should be a common laborer or a master. I made the selection to be the master of my own destiny. I have risen to be a master among men. I listened as a boy of thirteen to the same sermons as my parents—firm Christians. My parents fell for the teachings of the white man, who taught them to be humble and satisfied.

Don't Be Satisfied With Poverty

He lived in a cottage on the hills, he rode in a phaeton, he had everything that made him a happy human being, yet he told the poor people to be satisfied, because it pleased God Almighty to let them suffer until the Day of Judgment. I looked at him and I saw that he had two blue eyes and I had two black ones, he had two hands and I had the same, he had two feet I had the same, he had passions like myself. He wanted a wife, I wanted a sweetheart, he wanted money to give his wife, I wanted money to give my sweetheart. He had his buggy to ride ten miles. When he wanted to send me out I had to walk.

We Can Choose Our Destiny

I asked myself: What is this great difference? And the answer came to me: It is so because of your selection. While the white man preached that to me I roused my ambition above the Preacher's, and I became dissatisfied with the things that were preached to me.

I saw myself rising above the preacher. I was determined to be a leader of men. I am a leader of men, and he is still preaching on the hill. I ride in a big automobile and he is still riding in a phaeton. I live in a big house on the Lady Musgrave Road and he is still living in the cottage on the hill. If I had accepted his teachings I would have been just a common laborer.

Negroes, Choose to Become Masters

I have cited this to let you rise above being a common servant. If you select to be a lackey, a beggar, a dog among men you shall never rise above it. You can become a king if you so desire. I call upon the Four Hundred Million Negroes of the world to be masters of themselves, to be masters of their destinies, to be architects of their own fate and in keeping with the thought of the Persian Poet:

"They will ask you: What have you done? Not: Who were your ancestors? The famous veil in the sanctuary is not revered by the faithful because it came from the silk worm."

You will be able to build nations; you will be able to build great empires of commerce and industry; and when you come to die you will be able to say I have made civilization happy because I have given a great invention to the world.

Let that be your duty! Let that be our earnest hope is my supplication to my Race.

With very best wishes, I have the honor to be,

Your Obedient Servant,
MARCUS GARVEY,
President-General, Universal
Negro Improvement Association of the World, August, 1929.

Stephens Made Historian For Disabled War "Vets"

Assemblyman James E. Stephens of the Nineteenth district has been appointed historian of the state department of the Disabled Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was announced Monday. Mr. Stephens is the first Negro to be appointed to office in the state organization.

The legislator was informed of his appointment by a letter from the state commander, Henry C. Johnson, white, who placed Stephens in the position. He will serve in that capacity until the state convention meets in May, 1932.

Fight to Win 19th A. D. for Race Started

Open Fire to Oust White
Leaders in 19th and
21st A. D.'s

McINTOSH LEADS WAR

There is going to be colorful contest for the control of 19th and 21st Assembly Districts by genuine Negro leadership. Even the leadership of the United Colored Democracy is being denounced by the executive secretary of Harlem Progressive Democratic Association, 114 West 137th street, Mr. Eugene McIntosh.

His full statement follows:

"I shall oppose Mr. Thomas F. Murray for the Democratic leadership of the 21st Assembly District in the September primaries for the following reasons: First, because I believe his leadership represents only the interest of a clique of political job holders of the district to the detriment and advancement of Democratic ideals; Second, because his leadership means but oppression, degradation and discrimination against colored people, in that by withholding recognition from Negro Democrats or giving any real consideration to the needs and aspirations of colored citizens of the district, he gives tacit support and encouragement to the undemocratic and Jim Crow so-called political organization, known as the United Colored Democracy which is the notorious and segregated entity, undemocratically imposed by Tammany Hall upon Negro Democrats through an appointive colored leadership, and which entity so long as it exists must debar the Negro from all executive power and from any just proportionate political representation within the Democratic party, and in that every office in the district organization, from Mr. Murray's leadership down to sergeant-at-arms, is held by white Democrats, and in that 99 per cent of the political patronage, allotted to the district, is held by white Democrats.

Third, because such leadership and conditions are the fertile mother of hate and race prejudice which operate to prevent any real social progress, as equality of opportunity for all is the inexorable law by which any true social advancement can be made.

"Fourth, because if elected, I shall impartially and concretely, without regard to race, creed or color, represent all the people of the district and an equal opportunity for all shall be substituted for the supremacy of white or black, Jew or gentile, group or clique, that may exist."

Mr. McIntosh has also sent a letter to Commissioner Curry of Tammany Hall, asking him to give his moral support or at least be neutral in ousting the white leadership in the 19th and 21st Assembly Districts.

The letter follows:
"Hon. John F. Curry,
"Tammany Hall,"
"100 East 17th street,
"New York City.

"My Dear Mr. Curry:
"I am enclosing copy of public announcement upon which I shall contest for the Democratic leadership of the 21st Assembly District, and beg to suggest to you most earnestly that if the condition relative to the depressed status of the Negro Democrats of this district as described (Continued on Page Eight)

Nobel Peace Prize For Hoover Proposed

It Is Berlin Mayor's Idea in Appreciation of President's International Leadership

BERLIN.—Chief Mayor Heinrich Sahm proposed President Hoover today as the "world's choice for the Nobel Peace Prize."

Addressing the opening session of the International Convention of Building Trades, he nominated the American President as a "candidate without competition for the Nobel award."

"His action (for a war debt moratorium) means more for the reconciliation of the world and for real peace than anything done in the last decade," the Mayor declared.

"The whole world will applaud this nomination."
Enthusiastic cheers from the delegates, representing many nations, greeted the statement.

Child Health During Summer

Fifteen Rules on How Vacation Should Be Enjoyed by Kiddies

Fifteen easy-to-obey rules for the health of the school child during the vacation season accompanied the June report cards today of every pupil in the public and parochial schools of the city. With these are combined a greeting from Health Commissioner Shirley W. Wynne and Dr. William J. O'Shea, Superintendent of Schools, as the second of a series of messages to be enclosed with report cards in the future.

"The full significance of vacations is not generally appreciated," said Commissioner Wynne. "The majority of people view vacation time from every angle but the health angle, really the most important role a vacation should play. Every one should return from a vacation refreshed, rested and in better health. We are especially anxious that our children return to school in the Fall with renewed health, refreshed and not worn out from an ill spent, exhausting Summer. The object of our leaflet on 'Vacation Health' which is being distributed to every school child today is to arouse parents to the appreciations of the purposes of the annual school vacation, and, also, to urge that they adopt the suggestions to make this event more helpful in every way."

The fifteen rules and the message under the caption "How to Spend One Day" follows:

Rise early.

Eat a good breakfast—fruit, cereal, egg, toast and milk.

Rest about a quarter of an hour.

Play in the open air and sunshine. Learn to do something well—tennis, baseball, handball, swimming, gardening or carpentry.

Cool off—rest before lunch.

Eat a good luncheon—vegetables, cream soup, an egg dish, or fish—with bread and butter, milk and a salad. Older children should learn how to prepare such a meal.

Sleep or rest after lunch.

Play in the afternoon sunlight for it aids growth. Wear short sleeves and no stockings. Avoid sunburn, get your coat of tan gradually.

Mid-afternoon refreshments—fruit juice or a cookie and milk.

A bath or swim in the late afternoon.

Then for supper or dinner be sure that in addition to the other dishes that you eat fresh vegetables, a salad, fruit and milk.

Quiet play, reading or an early movie.

A bath, if you have not already bathed during the day. And early to bed.

On Tuesday, June 30, the Child Health Contest conducted by the Harlem Health Center, 108 West 136th street, comes to an end upon the announcement of judges' decision at 3 p. m. Parents are invited to attend the prize-winning ceremony.

Let Character, Brains Win, Mayor Walker's Advice To Businessmen

C. M. A. Stores Plan Unique

Says Negro World Columnist; If Followed Will Help Race Business

LOCAL GROCERS COLD

By RALPH O. GOTHARD
(The Negro World Business Correspondent)

A general in command of an army has only one real objective—to get results. If it is a fort to be taken he marshals his forces irrespective of the number of men he knows are obviously compelled to be lost, and orders are given to proceed. No matter how great the sacrifices, every soldier knows what is expected, and no questions are asked. The Germans used more than 500,000 men in their attempt to capture Verdun, it is said, yet they continued to make charge after charge in the face of certain death.

My hat goes off to Albon L. Holsey, president of the National C. M. A. Stores, Inc. Mr. Holsey had an objective and regardless of adverse criticism, misunderstandings and every discouragement, he has evolved a plan—a practical plan, for Negroes to follow—in my opinion the greatest, most highly potential of future benefits, that has been offered to Negroes.

The National Negro Business League closed its 32nd annual convention last night with an interracial banquet held at the Broadway Central Hotel. The holding of this banquet at a white hotel subjected Mr. Holsey to some very severe criticism, and many thought it was an extremely untimely gesture, in view of the fact that a concerted effort is being made on every hand to secure Negro business. "Why give this business to a white hotel that does not need it, instead of giving it to a Negro caterer, several of which we have in Harlem fully capable of handling an affair of this kind?" was asked.

As I said before, a good general strives for results. Mr. Holsey got results. With me, how he did it is not half so important as the fact that for his efforts he has something tangible to offer us as a partial solution to our problem.

Booker T. Washington was similarly criticized. Those of us born and raised in the North think that many of the things that he did we would not have done. Mr. Washington knew the psychology of the white man. He knew how to get results, while the rest of us sat by and talked. Tuskegee Institute stands today as a monument to the vision of a man who had the ability to get results under the most adverse conditions.

I believe that, to a very large extent, the C. M. A. plan was evolved under similar conditions. Beyond the shadow of a doubt, Tuskegee Institute is the connecting link between Booker T. Washington and the C. M. A. Tuskegee's growth was due to the number of "white friends" secured for that institute by Mr. Washington. Mr. Holsey's connection with (Continued on Page Eight)

Writer Counsels Them to Get Any Work and Gain Experience

By ARNOLD C. DEMILLE

Last month when the large number of young men and women, with brand new ribboned-sheepskins in their hands, and enough ambition to conquer the world, stepped forth from the chapel of their respective colleges, not once did they realize that they were about to tackle one of the most difficult tasks of their lives—trying to procure a position in their chosen field. As in the past year or two, they shall soon learn that the present conditions are very unfavorable for every person, business and industry, let alone graduates.

Most of the graduates of today are under the impression that they have a better chance of getting whatever jobs there are available, that their education has a certain amount of influence over the modern business leaders, and that they are always preferred by the employers, no matter how menial the task.

Before these inexperienced youngsters form such opinions, and commence discussing such probabilities, it would be well for them to consider the fact that there are thousands of experienced men and women—men and women who have made it possible for the June's graduation—are (Continued on Page Eight)

Author Analyzes Mob Mentality

Dos Passos Says Lynching
A Carnival to Undernourished Whites

By JOHN DOS PASSOS

Author of "Three Soldiers," "Manhattan Transfer," "1919 Parallel." Our legal procedure is a kind of map of our ruling class mind. In the South, in a case where Negroes are involved, every white man is given the luxury of being part of the ruling class. You have to realize how physically and emotionally undernourished and starved the small tenant farmers, the small storekeepers, the jellybeans and drugstore loafers who make up the lynching mobs are, to understand the orgy of righteousness and of unconscious sex and cruelty impulses, that a lynching lets loose. The feeling of superiority to the Negro is the only thing the poor whites of the South have. A lynching is a kind of carnival to them.

Reading the testimony in the Scottsboro case, you feel all that—the band outside the courthouse, the mob hanging around, passing from mouth to mouth all the juicy details of a raping. You feel that filthy prurient joy in the courtroom, the stench of it is in the badly typewritten transcript of the court procedure, in the senseless ritual, the half illiterate, poorly phrased speeches of the judge and the solicitor, the scared answers of the two tough girls, evidently schooled for days in their story, sometimes seeming to enjoy the exhibitionism of it. Evidently the court stenographer didn't take the trouble to put down what the boys said in their own words; what they said didn't matter, they were going to burn away.

From the testimony you can't make out what actually did happen on that train-full of white and colored boys between Chattanooga and Paint Rock. But you do reach the certainty that it couldn't have happened as told in court and that, even granting that the two girls were forced by some whites or Negroes on the train, there's no particular reason why it should have been the boys who are now held in jail, to give the righteous churchgoers of Jackson County, Ala., the pleasure of a lynching. Whatever happened, however it turns out, what a pretty picture the Scottsboro case offers (a man has to have a strong stomach anyway) to read legal testimony without gagging) of a little corner of civilization in Mr. Hoover's greatest nation on earth. What a story of miserable starved (Continued on Page Eight)

Negro Wants to Work for Self

Is a Good Thing; New York a City for Every One

WHO MAKES GOOD

Mayor Walker was guest of honor last night at the annual dinner of the National Negro Business League at the Broadway Central Hotel, Broadway and Third street. Nearly 200 members of the organization from thirty states, who have been attending the annual convention of their organization here, were told by the Mayor that New York was a "city for every one who makes good, regardless of color or creed."

Mr. Walker was introduced by Alderman Fred R. Moore, known as the "grand old man of Harlem," as the best Mayor in the world and the greatest opponent of intolerance. Any one who criticizes the city or the section in which he lives, Mr. Moore said, should move somewhere else. He added that while talking to the Mayor during the dinner, he had "nearly got another school for Harlem."

"Even John F. Curry, the leader of Tammany Hall, can't kid me as gracefully as Fred Moore," declared Mayor Walker in response.

He praised Alderman Moore as "scrupulously honest and as fine a statesman as I have ever known."

"I am glad the colored citizens of New York are tired of working for the other fellow and have decided to work for themselves," he said. "Your organization is a market for brains and those with talent should have the opportunity of using them not only for the individual but the whole community. Make it a free for all. Let character and brains be the test and may the best man win."

Speaking on behalf of the convention, Dr. Robert R. Moton, president of the National Negro Business League, and principal of the Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, declared that Negroes could no longer be counted as the members of one political party. Many of them were now members of the Democratic party in Alabama, he said, and they had learned to think and act for themselves.

Kenneth M. Goode, editor of "Advertising and Selling," told the delegates they should seek to develop a Negro business organization on an individual basis. He said the depression had been a "seven-sent allbit to cover a series of reactions from an orgy of over prosperity," but that business and industry were now progressing to a new era of prosperity.

Greetings on behalf of various Negro organizations were expressed by William N. Wortham, representing Harlem; Eugene K. Jones, secretary of the National Urban League; Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Dr. Channing H. Tobias, senior secretary of the Negro division of the Y. M. C. A.; and Dr. Fred L. Brownlee, secretary (Continued on Page Eight)

Business Is Picking Up

H. G. SALTUS

RAY FELLOWS, what do you say about the Southern fighter, refuses to take on a Negro in a feature bout, but does not mind having the African boys as sparring partners or human punching bags. The two boys in his camp just at this time are Sunny Jim Williams and Sam Ward. St. Louis is probably paying them ten dollars a day for going in and taking it on the jaw for two rounds each day. The rub is how is it that our boys are good enough to train with but not good enough to actually fight. Search me, I give up.

BABY JOE GANS, seems to be chalking up a long list of successful bouts these days. Last Monday he outpointed Angel Terjoro of Spain in a star ten-round bout at Foughkeppie. Quite a number of fans turned out to witness the affair, as the Spanish boy had shown there before and gave the fans a good run for their money, so they were anxious to see just what he could do with a first rate light-weight champion. Quite a number of fans turned out to witness the affair, as the Spanish boy had shown there before and gave the fans a good run for their money, so they were anxious to see just what he could do with a first rate light-weight champion.

KID CHOCOLATE has his big chance to acquire a title one day when on July 15 he meets Benny Bass, junior light-weight champion, for the crown at Liverpool, Pa. The kid is weighing around 130 pounds and should be all meant make good in this attempt as he will be in possession of all his strength. This, however, was lacking when he fought with Battalino, for although he had the Hartford boy down for the count in the first round, he could not get to his feet and was forced to retire. Making the weight for the contest was the cause of his weakness. So let us hope that on July 16 we will be able to read "Kid Chocolate is the new junior light-weight champion of the world."

BILLY JONES gets another bout with Maxie Rosenbaum. The first time they met Jones won the decision. Maxie will not agree to a championship bout with Billy for reasons of his own. Just why they let this be the champ or champ clown around without defending his title is a wet proposition. It is rumored that the "filter-fish" will take on Slattery next month at Ebbsfeld Field, in high honors. It would seem that Slattery lost Maxie the crown to wear for a short while. Now Rosie is going to repay the loan. What if they trade again? Then the two boys would have the light-weight championship all sewed up and how! So come on Jones, knock this would-be champ down to the dumps and go on record as the uncrowned champion. I saw him in Philadelphia the night George Grey fought Carnera, and I became very impressed with your work, and I know that if you stay straight from the shoulder you can take the crown of the roped arena for a full count.

THE REPORT is sent out that Joseph Kennedy, the Negro who won $145,000 on the Irish Sweepstakes, has become quite excited about the excitement of it all. Let us hope he does not pass out before he collects the dough. Just why the O'Fay's make so much ado over our folk, when they are scouting the dollar, always, and regardless of who has possession of the Almighty Green, pays them no regard. Reporters, newsmen, feature men, photographers, business men, all want what, all seem to tie themselves to our dough and then go to Liberia and make a man of yourself. There is so much you could do over there that would be of benefit to your race and would redound untold glory on you for generations and generations. That would be doing a blessed thing for humanity that looks and feels like you. I understand that you were called.

INTRODUCING

Irving Mills, the gentleman who guided Duke Ellington and his Famous Orchestra to the topmost rung of the musical ladder, has gone and done it again. This time he is sponsoring an aggregation which has developed into one of the greatest colored orchestras in the country, known as Mills' Blue Rhythm Boys.

In the comparatively short time it has been in existence, this combination of blue blazers has risen to the enviable position where it may be ranked in the same class with Duke Ellington, Cab Calloway, Louis Armstrong, and Fletcher Henderson.

Amateur and professional alike have been clamoring for a return engagement at the Lafayette Theatre, "The Palace of Harlem," three weeks after their initial appearance there, which establishes a record for that house. They are being considered by Paramount, R.K.O., and Loew for an extensive tour, and by several light-weight champions of the world.

It is not in the least overstating the case to predict that this new colored orchestra will be famous from coast to coast in the very near future.

NEW YORK'S PRESTIGE

Something must be done. Eventually it will be done. Why not now? The selection of a cricket team to represent New York should be made by a joint committee of the cricket and the New York Cricket League.

When will the promoters recognize and respect the authority of the league that they are supposed to control the sport in this city. As it now stands, the so-called "Pick of New York" is literally in the hands of an individual, who is strongly influenced by the directors of the Jamaica Cricket Club.

Plums can be picked from any fruitful plum tree; but if you were having company you wouldn't select the semi-green or the overripe that is in a state of decay. It goes without saying that you would pick them when they are ripe and in the prime condition for table consumption. New York is the plum tree.

Many a player is destined never to reach the top-most rung; but in the eyes of the public, they are under-rated and under-paid. We have heard a whisper: The pick of the person of New York's cricket team is to be played at Dyckman Oval, on Saturday and Sunday, July 4 and 5.

Indifferent players, long past their prime, are being picked to play for New York. Indifferent players, long past their prime, are being picked to play for New York. Indifferent players, long past their prime, are being picked to play for New York.

PROMOTERS' HEED

Of course the selection of a cricket team is a matter of some importance. It is a matter of some importance. It is a matter of some importance. It is a matter of some importance. It is a matter of some importance.

EN PERSECUCION DE NACIONALIDAD Y PODER

Debemos realizar que este movimiento de enaltecimiento en pro de nuestro pueblo, es muy serio para que su programa pueda ser fácilmente alterado. Hay aun entre nosotros algunos que no están al corriente con los fines de esta organización, tal vez por el poco interés que se hayan tomado sobre el particular. Para su gobierno hemos de repetir que ella recurre a todos los medios posibles, para unir en un solo haz la potencialidad de los cuatrocientos millones de nuestro pueblo.

A nuestro mejor modo de entender tiempo es ya para que el negro se constituya en un poder, toda vez que en la era en que vivimos los demás pueblos y las demás razas se esfuerzan para disfrutar de su propia nacionalidad y de su propia independencia. Formando nosotros parte integrante de la única raza cuya independencia le ha sido restringida, hemos decidido unir nuestras fuerzas para demandar del mundo aquello que legítimamente nos pertenece, en todo cuanto concierne a la sagrada causa de libertad.

Una y otra vez se nos ha tildado de radicales por el solo hecho de patrocinar ideas progresistas. Para muchos el negro debe aun permanecer satisfecho con su situación retrograda de servidumbre; para nosotros, tomando en consideración las aspiraciones de esta organización, el negro debe ser radical y no conservador. El radicalismo es un sello que siempre se ha estampado en el sentimiento de todo pueblo con tendencias a mejorar su condición.

El problema de nuestra raza tiene que ser solucionado. Nuestros enemigos, los que critican el sano propósito de esta institución, han tratado de engañar maliciosamente las masas sobre esta cuestión africana. La experiencia adquirida nos determina el poco amor que muchos de nosotros tenemos para con la tierra de nuestra procedencia, made patria de nuestros antepasados. La mente, el alma de estos ha sido maldorada por la propaganda del hombre blanco por mas de cien años, sentando su base en que el Africa es un sitio insostenible habitado por canibales y salvajes; que ningún pueblo culto, ninguna raza civilizada se preocupa de ella.

Mientras nosotros por medio del efecto de esa influencia nos olvidamos de Africa, el hombre blanco la ha explorado y explotado por centenares de años. Por lo tanto, los miembros de esta organización creemos que es tiempo ya para que se inicie el reajuste de nuestros asuntos en aquel continente. Un gobierno constituido por negros lo suficientemente fuerte para que nuestro elemento, ya viva en oriente o en occidente, reciba la debida protección como ciudadanos del mismo. Tal es el programa político que esta organización tiene en perspectiva.

Con el mismo derecho que el hombre blanco ha sentado su poderío en Europa y el hombre amarillo en Asia, el hombre negro puede constituirse nacionalmente en Africa. En la creación de la gran familia humana se utilizó un solo elemento y se creó un hombre negro que el sería el esclavo o servidor del hombre blanco o del hombre amarillo; se creó al primero como un hombre en común con estos últimos. El elemento de nuestra raza en general debe actuar como tales hombres, luchando en pro de los principios para los cuales ha sido creado.

El haber delegado nosotros en los demás la manifestación de nuestros sentimientos nos ha traído por resultado vejaciones y segregación industrial, económica y política. Con tal experiencia no debemos conservar la misma actitud y si determinar un cambio favorable sobre dicha situación. El hombre blanco predomina al presente por la confianza que para ello tiene en sí mismo; nuestro elemento tiene que llegar a la misma conclusión para escalar la cúspide de su ideal. El mundo esta muy organizado, el mundo es muy progresista, su civilización y su cultura avanzan a paso muy agigantado para esperar por el hombre que no tiene confianza en sí mismo. Hombres con fe en sí mismos, hombres con determinación verán siempre coronados sus esfuerzos con el éxito.

Tendencias Modernas

Los indios tienen también sus aspiraciones, y muy modestas. Fiden la libertad de fabricar la sal común, el embargo sobre los tejidos de algodón de Manchester y la prohibición del comercio de narcóticos y de licor.

El impuesto de la sal, o lo que es peor, el monopolio de ese indispensable condimento, ha sido una de las fuentes de ingresos más abundantes para los países que han seguido la línea de menor resistencia para llegar al bolsillo de los contribuyentes.

Inglaterra creó ese monopolio para arbitrar recursos. Los indios pretenden, con mucha razón, que nadie les debe impedir de recoger lo que les ofrece el agua del mar en sus propias costas y pantanos.

Los conquistadores de la India tendrían que encontrar otros impuestos para equilibrar el presupuesto. La tendencia moderna es la de crear impuestos sobre los victoriosos. Expulsar los tejidos de algodón de Manchester, eso ya sería harina de otro costal.

La raza anglosajona no ha conquistado para civilizar; solo para enriquecerse y obtener materias primas para sus industrias. Inglaterra obtiene algodón de la India, pretende transformarlo en tejidos, en Manchester, y venderlos en todas partes del mundo, incluso la India.

Malatma Gandhi no viste más que las telas de algodón tejidas en la India. "Homespun" significa literalmente "tejido en casa."

Si MacDonald es cierto los darás esos privilegios a los indios. Después de todo más vale una mala elección en Manchester que una revolución en la India.

Las religiones están basadas en la creencia en el clima torrido de la India, los licoreros agotan pronto las energías.

También lo saben los estados del sur de este país, donde se cultiva el algodón.

Los habitantes de Montana y del Vermont, que se chupan los dedos en estos momentos cuando el término bajo el clima frío.

Kiddie Korner

By CAROLINE HALL

CHICORI DIDN'T LIKE HOME
As you know, Chicori was the little brown boy who used to be afraid of things until he learned that lots which seem strange and spooky from far away, is really very plain and nice when you know it.

When Chicori knew that he would never again be afraid, he was naturally very, very happy. Wouldn't you be? Now happy boys are sometimes quite venturesome. I mean, they like to try something new and daring. That is how Chicori felt on the day after he lost his fears. So out of his basement room he strolled, out of anything that might pop up. He hoped it would be something terrible just so he could show how brave he had become.

But that was not the way things worked out. For a while, Chicori just walked along without much caring where, and nothing happened but the shriek of a fire engine going to rescue some one's burning home. But then, as quick as a flash, Chicori spied something.

"Was it?" wondered he. It was. A streak of bluest blue. A river. Chicori was delighted. All of him sang as he ran at his topmost speed to the blue streak before him. All of him shouted when he had come smack upon it and glimpsed the wonders before him.

Was he dreaming again? Here were great stone houses, glistening white, such as real people surely could not be living in. They towered miles above him. Something like mountains he supposed. Only much nicer because of the thousand glass panes.

Nicer too, because by high toot-tipping, one could see right through the lowest glass panes. One could see children, and such pretty children, playing with blocks and engines and all kinds of store window things. One could see ladies who looked like nothing but beautiful princesses. Chicori looked and looked until his eyes began to blink, and blink without his even meaning them too.

But strangely, the longer Chicori looked at the beautiful houses and beautiful children and very, exceedingly beautiful ladies, the less happy he felt. He thought of where he lived, and the ugly tenements, and dirty neighbors, and cross, quarrelsome women.

Chicori turned slowly homeward. As he walked tears came. His steps grew more and more lagging. Before he knew it, he had decided not to go home at all.

Mayor Walker Glad Negro Wants to Work for Self

of the American Missionary Association.
Other speakers were A. L. Lewis of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Charlotte Hawkins Brown of Spartanburg, S. C., representing the woman's auxiliary of the league; Edward F. Gerish, regional survey director of Negro business of the United States Department of Commerce, and Dr. Emmett J. Scott of Howard University, Washington, D. C.

The convention this year will depart from its accustomed program. In order "to lay the foundation for a vital economic program for the race, the program has been designed to reach two objectives: interracial contacts in business and direct education benefit to various groups."

Dr. Robert Russa Moton, principal of Tuskegee and president of the league, sat in the high chair before the pulpit. Speaking in his accustomed quiet yet vigorous way, Dr. Moton said that for three decades the league had "existed largely on inspiration."

Sees New Era Dawning
However, he held that there now was dawning a new era for the Negro in business, and, he continued,

"It is also significant that, wisely handled, this position can now secure the cooperation and backing of business men of the nation in the South as well as in the North."

The Negroes also, he declared, "must now ask themselves, have they got the right stuff?" He liked to think that they had, adding that "as far as I am concerned, I do not put anything above the development of my race. I love my country and I believe in religion, but the development of the Negro is the most important part of my creed."

"I cannot be loyal to my country," he continued, "and certainly not live up to my religion if I neglected to do everything in my power toward that aim."

Puts Race and Country First
He then held that "if we put race and country and the service of an All-Wise Providence first, and ourselves afterward, we can in the next two or three years render such a service that it will redound to the good of all mankind and to the glory of Almighty God. The spirits of Booker Washington and those who helped him in the beginning of this organization will rejoice with us in its inevitable triumph."

There are 340,541 Indians in the United States.

"C. M. A." Stores Plan Will Help Race Men

Tuskegee enabled him to continue using the same means of getting results that Mr. Washington used, the only difference being that Mr. Holsey's job was not quite so difficult.

As a Negro advertising man, I made it my business to attend every session of the League and listened to every speech and comment. Personally I consider the addresses made by the various experts as being worth thousands of dollars to the business men who heard them, if they will put just some of the suggestions into practice. The address by Mr. Kenneth Collins, advertising manager of R. H. Macy & Co., a man who receives $75,000 a year, was especially valuable, and it was a great privilege to have heard him.

Another very valuable lecture with stereotypical slides on Chain Store planning was given by Mr. Wm. L. Butler, Associated Editor, "The Progressive Grocer." It was one that no grocer can afford to have missed. Yet there were only six grocers present, and most of these were from out of town. It may interest you to know that there are 120 Negro grocers in Harlem, and this lecture was free.

There is no other Negro in America that, in my opinion, could have brought together the concentrated brain power, in so short a period of time, as did Alphonse L. Holsey. Suppose he did decide to use any method whatsoever to accomplish his aims, he succeeded, and that is what I want to see him give credit for.

The Negro speakers varied in a most interesting manner in their opinions. Mr. T. J. Elliott, proprietor of Elliott's Department Store, in his address on Negro business in the Southwest said, "Negroes should not limit themselves to Harlem but should strive to cater to the entire population of New York, which has 7,000,000 people. Muskogee, Okla., has 40,000 people and 55 per cent of our business is white." In my opinion this is the height of folly to advise Negroes, at the present stage of the game, to compete with stores like R. H. Macy or John Wanamaker. It would be highly satisfactory to me if we could get 55 per cent of the business available in Harlem alone. Mr. Elliott admitted, in a private conversation, that his suggestion could not easily be carried out in Harlem.

Mrs. T. J. Nevins, Chairman, Business Department, National Association of Colored Women, made a direct plea for support, "because I am a Negro." She was the only one who was neither ashamed or afraid to ask directly for support because she feels she has more to offer than her white competitors. All of the others felt the "inter-racial" urge, and that we should divide our business as well as strive to secure white business.

Mr. David Doles, president of Bel-Strat Laundry, in a private conference, called Monday afternoon at the hotel, explained that "everytime we purchase soap, soda, ink, etc., in the conduct of our business, we are doing business with white people, and if we insist on giving employment to our own, after all we are getting only a small portion of what we are entitled to because white people are employed in the manufacture of every article we use."

Mayor James W. Walker, in his usual inimitable manner, I believe, made the most pointed remark by any white speaker during the convention, to the effect that "he was glad to see that the Negro had become tired of working for the other fellow and had decided to do something for himself. It is a very sad commentary on the schools of our country when after educating our boys and girls, there is nothing for them to do. There may be in this depression an opportunity for the C. M. A. I hope you take full advantage of it."

Dr. Channing E. Tobias, Senior Secretary, Colored Division Y. M. C. A., struck another single but effective note when he declared that "Negroes, especially professionals, are great people for talk and talk only. They receive their support from Negroes but give their business to the other fellow." He then picked out several Negro business men in the audience whom he individually patronized, to show that he not only preached, but practiced Race Loyalty.

Dr. Carter G. Woodson gave a most interesting critical analysis of the Negro. "The Negro has, for 300 years, been taught that he is inferior. He would have been a very poor student if he had failed to learn his lesson in this time. This," he explained, "is the reason why Negroes haven't confidence in themselves and possess an inferiority complex." He ended with an eloquent plea for solidarity and cooperation, assuring us there was no reason why we cannot succeed in all that we hope to accomplish.

"The Significance and Value of the Housewives' League" was brought out in an address by Mr. Samuel A. Allen, Industrial Secretary of the New York Urban League. Plans have been made to organize Leagues locally and nationally by the Business League. Mrs. Fannie B. Peck of Detroit, Mich., told how she organized 5000 women in her city.

Taken as a whole, in my most humble opinion, the C. M. A. plan is the greatest constructive effort endorsed by all classes that has been made by the Negro since the War, and under pressure of the depression, there is every reason to believe that clothing stores, shoe stores, furniture stores, restaurants, laundries and other enterprises will soon follow the trail opened by the C. M. A.

Mussolini Sponsors Birth Control Lecture

It was learned here today that Dr. Marie Stopes, Great Britain's most widely known exponent of birth control, has been invited by representatives of Premier Benito Mussolini to lecture on that subject in Rome. Dr. Stopes, it is reported, has accepted the invitation and the lecture will be delivered in the near future.

It is added that Premier Mussolini is expected to preside on the platform. Observers of Italo-Vatican affairs are watching with great interest this apparent astounding reversal of Il Duce's noted views on the subject of birth control. The fact of the invitation was confirmed by Dr. Stopes' secretary this afternoon.

Says This Is Best Time to Buy Shares

"Now is the time for the investors of this country to take a leaf out of the Russian book and adopt a five-year plan of their own. Should outright purchases be made of shares in the leading industries of America under existing conditions, I feel confident that the outcome would prove highly profitable by 1936."

That is a phase of a solution of the economic depression expressed by Walter E. Mahony, publisher of the North American Review, who with Mrs. Mahony was to sail today aboard the North German Lloyd liner Dresden for Paris where they will join their daughter, a student at the Sorbonne.

Dos Passos Analyzes Causes of Lynching

lives, prostitution, rape and sickness comes out between the lines of the courtroom testimony. Lynching and race hatred, like pellagra, are diseases of poverty and ignorance.

As far as I can see, since the days of the old Abolitionists, no one has had the courage to publicly face the problem until the International Labor Defense and the Community party came along with their slogans of equality and cooperation between white and Negro workers. For that reason alone, I think those organizations deserve support, even by outsiders who do not subscribe to their entire creed.

New Grads Counsel To Gain Experience

unemployed; and whenever there is an opening, regardless of the type of work, the "experienced man" is always preferred to the first on the waiting list.

There have been several articles published in current issues of newspapers and magazines stating that many students believe they will be our "rescuers"; they shall analyze the unemployment, economical and financial problems; make a thorough investigation as to what is necessary to restore prosperity; bring the country back to its normal condition; eliminate the unemployment problem, and reduce the cost of living.

It is a splendid thing for these young people to harbor such ambitions, and it will still be more wonderful for them to give a try, but they shall find that it calls for more than ambition to solve our present problems. There are people who have been in business, and who have studied the economical, financial and unemployment problems for a number of years, but have found no definite solution. Therefore, how can these inexperienced ones do the impossible?

Many of the graduates will venture into the world with a too high idea of their importance in spite of the stiff and severe warning they have received from the "old timers" about the unpropitious conditions we are now trying to survive. Seldom do they realize that it is not so much the education that counts in modern business. It is the experience and common sense that advance a business into a more profitable one.

When a person graduates from college, he does not know the actual points of any business, science or art. He only knows the theory. A young man can study bookkeeping or accountancy in college for a few years; but when he is called in an office to show his skill and ability, he discovers that he has only a hazy idea of what the real thing is. The practical points are unknown. He has to start all over again and learn the "real thing." College does not make a business man, as many may think, nor does it propose to make a man capable of earning a large salary. It is the making of a man that determines his possibilities. College prepares you to face the world as an educated man, a cultured man.

The present-day graduates should be wholly satisfied with any sort of work they may be able to obtain, and should not become discouraged in the belief that they are unable to secure a so-called white collar position. There are thousands who have had such positions, but lost them during the past two years, and have referred to some other source. Also, there is no sense in the becoming discouraged if he cannot see any possible way of getting a position in his chosen field. Remember the old saying: "Rome wasn't built in a day." When things are better and everybody begins to resume their wonted occupation, then there is his chance to go after the position he wants, not only with his college training, but probably with additional knowledge acquired through outside contact.

Should a graduate land a job paying about fifteen dollars per week, he need not complain. He is lucky to get one. Thousands cant. And other all, it makes no difference what kind of work it may be; the experience is excellent. And, also, it is absurd for any educated man to become discontented in an honest position. If he cannot secure the kind of work he likes, he at least comes in contact with people who can supply him with some very useful information that may become quite indispensable one of these days when he finds himself seated in the position he had struggled to procure.

Start Fight to Oust White Leadership in 19th

therein under the leadership of Mr. Thomas F. Murray be true, as a cursory examination will show, my candidacy to overthrow his leadership should at least have your moral support or proclaimed and strictly exercised neutrality as to the contest.

"For, nothing can save such leadership from deserved and overwhelming defeat at the hands of both white and colored thoughtful citizens except possible great outside influence or the improper use of money in the election.

"Assuring you that my fight is not against Tammany Hall but against the intolerable conditions described in the pronouncement, I remain
"Very truly yours,
"EUGENE MCINTOSH."

Mr. McIntosh is 49 years of age, married and lives in his own house with his wife and two children at 403 West 147th Street, is executive member of the Harlem Progressive Democratic Association, is in the real estate and employment business with office at 114 West 137th Street, and was for 16 years, up to December 31, 1929, a process server in the District Attorney's office.

He says identical conditions relative to Negro Democrats exist in the 19th Assembly District under the leadership of Martin J. Healy and that a colored candidate will be named by the Harlem Progressive Democratic Association to oppose Mr. Healy's leadership; that financial support has been promised for the campaign by both white and colored Democrats of the respective Assembly districts.

It is sometimes hard to prove what you know you know.
